

ORSI is proud to announce the initiation of a partnership with orthopaedic colleagues in both Honduras and Uganda!! Both sites have joined global orthopaedic platforms, including the Haitian State Hospital Grand Rounds series and global orthopaedic platforms from the Harvard Global Orthopaedic Initiative (HGOI).

In addition to welcoming our new partners to our educational platforms, we also are providing infrastructural support in the form of donations of trauma equipment, implants, and surgical instruments requested.

Pictured below is Dr. Tito Funez, Chief of Orthopaedic Trauma at Hospital Escuela in Tegucigalpa. As with the majority of ORSI global partners, this is a state teaching hospital that serves the poorest of populations in Honduras while maintaining residency programs training the next generation of orthopaedic surgeons in Honduras.

As we have done with other partner countries, we look forward to performing a needs-assessment pilot trip to Honduras to assess needs, gaps, resources, and potential collaborative strategies going forward.

State of the Art locking fracture fixation implants and instruments delivered to Honduras and Uganda!

Pictured below is Dr. Patrick Sekimpi, Director of Orthopaedic Surgery for Mulago Regional Referral Hospital, with staff. ORSI also delivered a beautiful state of the art fracture fixation set complete with implants and surgical instruments to his partner site in Uganda. Dr. Sekimpi and his orthopaedic training program have also been participating in our year-round orthopaedic surgical virtual lecture series, presented many cases on this platform, and has made very helpful suggestions to address cases to orthopaedic colleagues around the globe. We are hoping to do a needs-assessment for some clinical and didactic support and possibly consider future team visits to his hospital within the next academic year.

We welcome our newest ORSI global partners!!!
